THOMAS HEBER RASBAND

Thomas Heber Rasband, born January 15, 1859, at Provo, Utah, was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Giles Rasband. He married Sarah Jane Murdock on November 28, 1878, daughter of John M. Murdoch and Ann Steele Murdoch. She was born on January 15, 1859, in Salt Lake City, and died January 15, 1933, in Salt Lake City. Thomas Heber Rasband died July 2, 1899, in Park City, Utah. 468

HEBER BIOGRAPHIES
469

His parents moved to Heber, Utah, in the spring of 1859, when he was a baby. He grew up in the valley with his brothers and sisters, sharing all the work and hardships of the pioneers. He was married young, being only 19 years old. The young girl he chose to go to the Salt Lake Endowment House on November 28, 1878, with him was Sarah Jane Murdock. He loved to tell that he and his wife were twins, he being only a few hours older than she. After he was married he moved to Park City, where he hauled ore for Ezra Thompson until the Rasband Meat Market was organized. At that time he took over the job of butcher for the firm. When not busy at the slaughter pen he would help in the shop and deliver to the mine's boarding houses. After years of service the meat market changed hands. Heber went to work as a policeman for a time, then went to the mine, where he worked about two years. He was accidentally killed in the mine on July 2, 1899, when he fell down a cage shaft. He was buried in Heber Cemetery.

To the marriage of Thomas Heber and Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband were born four children: Jennie, Annie, Heber Raymond and Emily Isabell.

The mother, Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband, was born in Salt Lake City on January 15, 1859, daughter of John and Ann Steele Murdock. When she was an infant they moved to Summit County. She resided in Park City 25 years prior to moving to Salt Lake City. After the death of her husband she married William Lindsay of Heber City on Sept. 7, 1918, and moved to Heber.

Following the death of William Lindsay she went again to Salt Lake City to live with her daughter, Mrs. Victor Cram, where she died January 15, 1933, and was buried in Heber City Cemetery.

THOMAS HEBER RASBAND

Thomas Heber Rasband, born January 15, 1859, at Provo, Utah, was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Giles Rasband. He married Sarah Jane Murdock on November 28, 1878, daughter of John M. Murdoch and Ann Steele Murdoch. She was born on January 15, 1859, in Salt Lake City, and died January 15, 1933, in Salt Lake City. Thomas Heber Rasband died July 2, 1899, in Park City, Utah. 468

HEBER BIOGRAPHIES
469

His parents moved to Heber, Utah, in the spring of 1859, when he was a baby. He grew up in the valley with his brothers and sisters, sharing all the work and hardships of the pioneers. He was married young, being only 19 years old. The young girl he chose to go to the Salt Lake Endowment House on November 28, 1878, with him was Sarah Jane Murdock. He loved to tell that he and his wife were twins, he being only a few hours older than she. After he was married he moved to Park City, where he hauled ore for Ezra Thompson until the Rasband Meat Market was organized. At that time he took over the job of butcher for the firm. When not busy at the slaughter pen he would help in the shop and deliver to the mine's boarding houses. After years of service the meat market changed hands. Heber went to work as a policeman for a time, then went to the mine, where he worked about two years. He was accidentally killed in the mine on July 2, 1899, when he fell down a cage shaft. He was buried in Heber Cemetery.

To the marriage of Thomas Heber and Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband were born four children: Jennie, Annie, Heber Raymond and Emily Isabell.

The mother, Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband, was born in Salt Lake City on January 15, 1859, daughter of John and Ann Steele Murdock. When she was an infant they moved to Summit County. She resided in Park City 25 years prior to moving to Salt Lake City. After the death of her husband she married William Lindsay of Heber City on Sept. 7, 1918, and moved to Heber.

Following the death of William Lindsay she went again to Salt Lake City to live with her daughter, Mrs. Victor Cram, where she died January 15, 1933, and was buried in Heber City Cemetery.

THOMAS HEBER RASBAND

Thomas Heber Rasband, born January 15, 1859, at Provo, Utah, was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Giles Rasband. He married Sarah Jane Murdock on November 28, 1878, daughter of John M. Murdoch and Ann Steele Murdoch. She was born on January 15, 1859, in Salt Lake City, and died January 15, 1933, in Salt Lake City. Thomas Heber Rasband died July 2, 1899, in Park City, Utah. 468

His parents moved to Heber, Utah, in the spring of 1859, when he was a baby. He grew up in the valley with his brothers and sisters, sharing all the work and hardships of the pioneers. He was married young, being only 19 years old. The young girl he chose to go to the Salt Lake Endowment House on November 28, 1878, with him was Sarah Jane Murdock. He loved to tell that he and his wife were twins, he being only a few hours older than she. After he was married he moved to Park City, where he hauled ore for Ezra Thompson until the Rasband Meat Market was organized. At that time he took over the job of butcher for the firm. When not busy at the slaughter pen he would help in the shop and deliver to the mine's boarding houses. After years of service the meat market changed hands. Heber went to work as a policeman for a time, then went to the mine, where he worked about two years. He was accidentally killed in the mine on July 2, 1899, when he fell down a cage shaft. He was buried in Heber Cemetery.

To the marriage of Thomas Heber and Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband were born four children: Jennie, Annie, Heber Raymond and Emily Isabell.

The mother, Sarah Jane Murdock Rasband, was born in Salt Lake City on January 15, 1859, daughter of John and Ann Steele Murdock. When she was an infant they moved to Summit County. She resided in Park City 25 years prior to moving to Salt Lake City. After the death of her husband she married William Lindsay of Heber City on Sept. 7, 1918, and moved to Heber.

Following the death of William Lindsay she went again to Salt Lake City to live with her daughter, Mrs. Victor Cram, where she died January 15, 1933, and was buried in Heber City Cemetery.

SAFEWAY STORES INC

Today's Safeway.

Where you get a little bit more.

SAFEWAY STORES INC #229
400 N Main---------------------------654-3942